Consequently, the main window of Speaker is just as simple as the app itself. It comes with a text-box, a mini drop-down menu for choosing the reading voices and buttons for starting and stopping the reading process. Uncomplicated workflow makes it ideal for all categories of users Thanks to its intuitive layout, working with Speaker is reduced to a simple paste action of your text into the dedicated box, choosing the voice and starting the reading process with one click. Furthermore, if you are in a hurry and you want to catch up on your latest reading while on the go, you can easily set up the app to export your text to WAV files, which you can later take with you on other devices. A good and useful app, with a lot of room for improvement While the tool works great and everything is exactly as it should be, we would have liked it even more if it would have featured support for other international languages, besides English. Also, you cannot open TXT or DOC files directly from their source, since you can only paste or type the text yourself. Last but not least, a wider variety of export formats would have been very useful. These are not something to fret about though, as all of the mentioned features can be easily implemented in future versions. Undeniable usefulness Taking all of the above into careful consideration, Speaker is an efficient and straightforward text-to-speech application. It features a lean learning curve thanks to its simple workflow and intuitive interface. It is perfectly aimed at people who don't have the time to sit in front of their computers to read large texts. Speaker Description: Let us say 2edc1e01e8
